

People consistently told us that:

- Woolwich can feel unsafe and neglected
- The town centre feels divided and difficult to move around
- There isn't enough support for local businesses and independent traders
- There aren't enough green, welcoming places to spend time
- Woolwich has a strong identity but its cultural assets feel disconnected

What we're exploring

To respond to these local priorities we recommend four aims which would help guide the type of change people want to see over the coming years:

What you said...

Therefore, we are exploring how Woolwich could offer more reasons to spend time in the town centre, supporting local businesses, markets and everyday activity, creating a Woolwich to spend more time in.

What you said...

Therefore, we are exploring how Woolwich could become easier, safer and more enjoyable to move around, reducing barriers between key destinations and creating a better connected Woolwich.

What you said...

Therefore, we are exploring how greener streets and better public spaces could make Woolwich healthier, more attractive and more welcoming, creating a greener and more welcoming Woolwich.

What you said...

Therefore, we are exploring how Woolwich's heritage, culture and civic spaces could be better celebrated and connected, creating a more cultural and civic Woolwich.
